The members of the Greensboro Historical Society compiled this brief history of the town as part of the observance of the two-hundredth anniversary of settlement.

Aaron and Ashbel Shepard and their families were the first settlers. They came from Newbury in the spring of 1789, pulling their belongings on three hand sleds. Before winter, Aaron and his family returned to Newbury, leaving Ashbel and Mary Shepard as the town's sole residents. Their son William, born the following spring, was the first white child born in Greensboro.

Indians undoubtedly camped often beside Caspian Lake, but the first known white camper was Lieutenant Lyford, a hunter who built camps at various times on the west side. At one of these camps, two ministers, Rev. Thomas Tolman and a Rev. Wood, spent three days in 1787, and it is said, prayed for "the future inhabitants of the place."

The Bayley-Hazen military road reached Greensboro in 1779 and opened up the region. Indians attacked the fort on the southwest side of Caspian in 1781 and killed two young scouts, Constant Bliss and Moses Sleeper. That same year the town was chartered to Harris Colt and 66 associates, among whom was Timothy Green, for whom the town was named. In December 1788, the proprietors met in Cabot, and Timothy Stanley, en route to the meeting, froze his foot, which had to be removed with a hammer and chisel.

Settlement proceeded rapidly, and by 1795 there were 23 families (108 persons) in Greensboro. Timothy and Joseph Stanley had built a gristmill, blacksmith shop and sawmill in the village, and Timothy Hinman started the road that opened the northern pan of the county. The first school had opened and the settlers were holding church services in their homes. In the 1830s many Scots settled in the northeast corner of Greensboro and East Craftsbury. Soon after, a few Irish arrived. By 1860, the population had reached its peak, 1865.

A group of Vermonters and folks from "away" began building camps around Caspian Lake in the late 1800s. In the early 1900s several Portuguese men came to work in Ritchie's sawmill in the Bend, and a few French-Canadian families arrived. Many young homesteaders moved to Greensboro in the 1960s and 70s, and a number of former summer people decided to live in town all year. In 1989 most Greensboro residents either work outside of town, operate home businesses or farms or are retired.

In spite of disasters, epidemics, fires, floods, years with no summer, and social evolution, Greensboro has endured. Through 200 years of inevitable changes, each generation has found in Greensboro's villages or surrounding hills, a special place to live.

The Greensboro Association, which was founded 1934 as a village improvement society, has identified and dealt with a variety of issues that concern both residents and non-residents of the Greensboro community. The affairs of the Association are managed by a Board of Trustees consisting of 21 members of the Association, of whom at least five shall be voting residents of the community of Greensboro. Seven trustees are elected for a three-year term at each annual meeting, which is held on the third Monday in August. The officers, consisting of the President, three Vice Presidents, Treasurer and Secretary are elected at the annual meeting for a one-year term. In addition, various committees are formed to deal with specific issues.

Membership in the Association is open to all residents of voting age of the community of Greensboro and summer residents of voting age who either own real estate or who have resided in the Greensboro community for one season. Residence at an inn or the guest or tenant of a house owner is sufficient to qualify. Grown children of members are especially welcome. Members absent from Greensboro may continue their membership. Dues are twenty dollars a year for both single and husband and wife memberships.

Among the many achievements of the Greensboro Association through the years, some are especially deserving of notice. The Association has provided financial support to nonprofit organizations in the Greensboro community, for example: helping the Greensboro Free Library purchase books and underwriting part of its after-school program, funding two scholarships at the Greensboro Early Learning Center and buying a defibrillator for the Hardwick Rescue Squad. In cooperation with the Towns of Greensboro and Hardwick, it has greatly improved the public beach near the village dock. Furthermore, the Association sponsors and subsidizes the swimming program held at the public beach every summer. The swimming classes range from beginners' groups to life-saving classes, offering certification according to Red Cross standards, and are open without charge to children of permanent and summer residents of Greensboro. In addition, it conducts a boating and water safety program.

The Association also provides entertainment. It sponsors summer concerts from the dock of the Landon cottage on the southeast shore of the lake every Sunday evening in July and August under the direction of the music committee.

Helping to maintain the quality of Caspian Lake is undoubtedly one of the most important roles of the Association. Towards this end it has monitored water quality for many years on a weekly basis during the summer months. A Lake Protection Committee was established several years ago to study run-off from streams feeding the lake and resultant build-up of the deltas, and an Aquatic Nuisances Committee examines ways to prevent the infestation of Eurasian milfoil and zebra mussels.

The Greensboro Association is an active participant in the Federation of Vermont Lakes and Ponds whose purpose is to exchange information and solve mutual problems among its members, in close cooperation with state environmental agencies.
